

ADINA POLOCROSSE WORLD CUP 2019 DAILY HIGHLIGHTS & RESULTS – THURSDAY APRIL 25

Adina Polocrosse World Cup 2019 Semi Finals have been determined

After four days of unpredictable polocrosse action, and the first round of night matches, the semi-final games for the Adina Polocrosse World Cup 2019 have been determined.

On Friday April 26 we will see United Kingdom take on United States under lights at 6.00pm, followed by Zimbabwe versus Ireland at 7.30pm. Another two fantastic night games of polocrosse action.

Saturday will see South Africa versus Zambia at 10.00am and Australia versus New Zealand at 1.30pm.

With three days of the event remaining, the countdown is on for the finals, which will commence Saturday evening.

Please see below the results and highlights from day one of the Adina Polocrosse World Cup 2019.

Skip: Jacquie Manear for S.A in chukka 5, a 5-2 chukka to S.A, which brought home the win.

WHAT'S ON TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be the start of final fever at IOR Morgan Park, with the first of the two semi-finals to be played under lights from 6pm.

6.00pm – United Kingdom vs United States of America

7.30pm – Zimbabwe vs Ireland

Ross Shepherd's predictions for tomorrow:

UK v USA: UK for the win, they have some excellent players, Jason Webb is playing very well at the back of the line. Charlotte Pykett is an exceptional #1 and controls the ladies section.

ZIM v IRE: Ireland to win, they have a good pool of horses and are improving as the competition goes on. The Irish ladies are exceptional and capable of competing with any international section.
